

Woolwich Town Hall

History

Woolwich Town Hall was completed in 1906 and designed by architect Alfred Brumwell Thomas. Grade II listed and Edwardian Baroque in style, it has an imposing Portland stone front on Wellington Street with a colonnade. There is a tall clock tower (40 metres) on the corner with Market Street. There are six domes which can only be seen from afar.

On entering you find yourself in the Victoria Hall, so called because at the far end on the staircase is a large marble statue of Queen Victoria. The space is used for exhibitions and for vote counting on election days. The colours are a striking pale pink and jade and this looks stunning against the black and white floor, plasterwork ceiling and domes, and stained glass windows.
